New York, Jan. 11.—The principal witness today in the trial of Roland B. Molinueux was Prof. Rudolph H. In the kidneys he found mercury and in the brain mercury.

Witness then took up the Adams case. In the deadly bromo seltzer bottle, Prof. Witthaus said, all the constituents of the powder found by him were the regular constituents of bromo seltzer, except mercury and cyanogen.

Among these speakers were H. W. Webb-Peploe, of St. Paul's Cathedral, London; Rev. John H. Jewell, of Birmingham, Eng., and a number of leading clergymen in this country.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 11.—Pursuant to the order of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States the permanent committee on temperance has prepared a communication to President McKinley against the sale of will leave Pittsburg tomorrow for Washington, with a prayer to the president that he look into the matter at once and give the committee some recognition of their action. The communication is as follows:

"This communication is sent to you in pursuance of the following action taken by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States.

"Resolved, That this general assembly, having heard with indignation and pain of the unholy activity of the brewers and distillers in introducing alcoholic liquors into the territory newly acquired by the nation, instruct its permanent temperance committee investigate existing conditions and if it be deemed wise to address in the name of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America the president of our republic asking his power to the prevention of this great wrong.

"The duty thus imposed by the general assembly on its permanent committee having been allotted to the undersigned, members composing a sub-committee, we desire respectfully to represent to you that so far as we have been able to 'investigate' existing conditions, the reports which occasioned pain and indignation in our general assembly do not seem to have been exaggerated.

"Since the recent accessions to our national domain in the the Indies, East and West, anxious eyes have been directed towards those lands by the christian people of America. Recognizing the fact that opportunity involves responsibility, deep solicitude has been felt as to the results that shall fall in these island from the assumption of authority of our government. The unfurling of our national flag should be to those people the pledge of the starting of industries that shall be elevating and in every way beneficial. And surely the hope of such results seem justified in view of our avowed disinterested and political motives in the recent conflict with Spain.

"Sore disappointment has come therefore from the discovery that a vast stream of intoxicating drink from American distilleries and breweries is being poured into our newly acquired possessions. The official records at Washington shows that the amount of alcoholic liquors exported to those countries has doubled in six months. The American saloon, that foul blot on our civilization, has already gone to curse those lands. In the single city of Manila are to be found 400 of those breeders of poverty, vice and crime. Whatever blessing of a higher christian civilization we may have hoped to bring to those distant islands, it is to be feared that the benefits conferred will be counterbalanced by the demoralization ruin inflicted by the American liquor traffic."
